Dr Petrina Kat has been using the OASiS program in her aesthetic orthodontist practice for more than two years to manage appointment books and patient databases, case notes, accounts and records.

“We find it to be a very user friendly system. One member of our staff had never even used a computer before and found it easy to use,” Petrina said.

“Patient details are available at the touch of a button and there’s no more hunting around for patient’s case notes or cumbersome appointment books when they phone to make an appointment or enquire about their treatment.”

“Paperwork has been greatly reduced and, should the worst happen, such as a fire in the surgery, we know we can see our patients elsewhere the very next day, safe in the knowledge that we have all their records backed up.

Petrina says that her practice relies heavily on Data Vision Australia.

“Having a fully computerised practice, we are very reliant on Data Vision. The remote link up means we do not have to wait around for hours for a problem to be fixed,” she said.

“Data Vision always provide a prompt service. Davide is happy to make changes to the OASiS software to adapt it for our use, which means we have a tailored system which caters to our needs.

“We are very happy with OASiS and Data Vision’s service. We would recommend it to any orthodontic practice.”
